

LEGAL ADVISORY NETWORK

Family offices are spending more on general advisory services especially in the legal area as they confront generational change and plan for the future.

At RSM we work with a large network of specialist legal advisers to assist in delivering the required legal structure, framework and agreements to the family office. Our core service offering is often complimented and underpinned by the integration of sound legal advice, structuring and planning.

This is particularly relevant in the areas of estate and succession planning, family law and commercial business agreements but can be applicable across a variety of family office service offerings.

We work with our clients to put together a strong legal team as part of our family office service that fits with their specific requirements and matches their unique family dynamic.

The RSM Senior Partner and internal team can be the conduit for this relationship and act as the point of contact to ensure seamless communication, and right-sized quality advice.

